

Hi, I'm Liesl van Wyk

Be brave enough to be different, and even braver to be yourself.

MY LIFE

Born to teach and fueled by coffee, I'm a passionate educator turned instructional designer who believes learning should be meaningful and magical. I've been happily married to the love of my life for 10 years. He is my biggest supporter and favorite adventure partner.

SCHOOL

With 14+ years in education across South Africa and China, I am a certified Play Therapist and a Master's in Instructional Design underway; I blend heart, humor, and high-impact strategies to create unforgettable learning experiences.

EXPERIENCES

From classrooms to creative projects, I've led school teams, directed musicals, hosted international events, and piloted AI tools to enhance learning. I've also had the joy of exploring incredible places like Xiamen, Xi'an, Beijing, Nanjing, Shantou, Shanghai, Sanya, Shenzhen, Phuket, Koh Samui, Vietnam, Singapore, and Hong Kong—because every new place inspires a new idea!

HOBBIES

When I'm not designing learning experiences, you'll find me painting bold canvases, mapping out creative projects, sculpting whimsical polymer clay jewelry, cycling through scenic routes, or whipping up something delicious in the kitchen (bonus points if it involves chocolate).
